

The CAMH Centre for Prevention Science
invites you to the:

Southwestern Ontario Regional Consultation Symposium

With a special focus on:

INCREASING PARTICIPATION AND ENGAGEMENT OF ABORIGINAL PARENTS AND FAMILIES IN SCHOOLS

The CAMH Centre for Prevention Science has invited school boards in Southwestern Ontario to send two board representatives, two Aboriginal parents, two Aboriginal youth representatives and a representative from an Aboriginal community partner organization to this symposium. The role of Aboriginal parents and families in the education of their children will be highlighted at the symposium and addressed by guest speakers.

This event will take place at:

StoneRidge Inn
6675 Birtwhistle Lane
London, ON

Thursday, October 15, 2009
9am-3:30pm

The goals of this symposium are:

- to identify barriers, challenges and strategies that have not been effective in enhancing participation and engagement of Aboriginal parents
- to develop, share and document a range of strategies, programs, initiatives and activities that have been shown to be effective in engaging Aboriginal parents and that can be implemented in schools and communities
- to create Aboriginal Parent Engagement Teams to return to each district and work with partners to implement action steps created during the symposium

COST

There is no cost for registration or lunch.

Participants are responsible for transportation and accommodations.

REGISTRATION

Register by completing and returning the registration form by email to ccamillo@uwo.ca by Friday, September 11, 2009
For more information, please contact Charlene Camillo
519-858-5144 ext. 22153